The conference was a major success, with over 200 participants representing the Turkish investors and manufacturers from the renewable energy sector, the event being watched simultaneously by several hundred others through the live broadcast provided by the organizers.

“Go Together, Grow Faster” is a unique concept that U.N.P.R. intends to implement it in order to promote foreign investments in Romania and exports of Romanian companies to international markets, having previously successfully organized two such events in Germany for the textile and IT industries.

The National Union of Romanian Employers (UNPR), the first national confederation registered in Romania (1991), is a business union of national representation, non-governmental, non-profit, without political affiliations.
